

Stack Sports fixed the height and width of the photo on the canvas so that the photo changes height and width for the canvas. This solves the issue with not being able to see the full photo.

First, the crop box functions better now to allow members to move the crop box over the intended face of the player/coach.

Second, we fixed the delete functionality to make sure it has more consistent behavior.

Finally, Stack Sports added simple error messaging when the photo is uploaded to help users understand the photo sizing that we are looking for. This error message was previously at the point of "save" which was frustrating, so now it shows earlier.
